II. Issues and Responsive Programs

Children and Youth

Our affiliation with the Children's Hospital of the King's Daughters and other youth service organizations reveals a variety of needs of the children of Hampton Roads residents. Experts believe that with today's complicated world we must pay more attention to the psychological well being of children. The growing number of crimes committed against and by children, hand gun use and the increasing number of youth gangs are also major concerns. Children's health care, education and the need for parents to spend more quality time with their children were also cited as issues that need to be addressed.

Dialogue December 2, 2012 6:20
Karen Winters from MacArthur Center came on the program to discuss the Sign Language Santa for children. The mall is sponsoring a “signing” Santa so that deaf and hard-of-hearing children can visit and sign with Santa.

Drugs and Alcohol

Our community ascertainment project and our work with groups like Alcoholics Anonymous and the Virginia Alcohol Safety Action Program have given us insight into the problem of drug and alcohol abuse. We learned that about 50% of all the crimes and murders committed in Hampton Roads are drug related and most traffic accidents are alcohol related. We are also aware of the need for drug and alcohol education, both for adults & children, and a need for rehabilitative services. An additional concern was the young age of children using and selling drugs.

Culture

Within the last several years the arts have blossomed in Hampton Roads. The successes of the Virginia Opera, the Old Dominion University Ballet, The Virginia Stage Company and The Virginia Symphony illustrate that there is a culturally aware audience eager to support what is available. However, there is still an untapped segment of the population who needs to be reached in order for the many arts organizations in this area to survive. This group promises to become more important than ever as arts organizations battle state budget cuts and an economy that continues to stagger to survive.

Volunteerism

Volunteers provide an inestimable community service in Hampton Roads. Economic pressures have stretched community service organizations to the limit, and volunteers are desperately needed to fill the ever-expanding gap. Fund raising activities, health care assistance, help for under privileged people, special programs for the handicapped and youth activities are but a few of the necessary functions performed by volunteers.

Elderly

The Aging population is and will continue to be, a significant issue as more and more people live longer, healthier lives. Through our work with area agencies on aging, the AARP, and the Glennen Center for Geriatrics at Eastern Virginia Medical School we have learned that Hampton Roads has the largest number of seniors in the state and that while these numbers are growing, funding for services is shrinking. There is also a great need for services for caregivers as well as more advocacies for funding elderly issues and a demand for more doctors to choose geriatrics as a specialty.

Instead, she opts to try to carry all of her groceries to the front in her arms. As she nears the front register, it all drops to the floor, triggering an anxiety attack. Howie Mandel in disguise shows up and asks what happened. He rolls his eyes and says they just cleaned the then physically tries to hand her a basket. Will anyone stand up and defend her?

HEALTHIER OPTIONS: A customer walks up to a cashier at a grocery store and places items on the checkout counter. But as the cashier (Howie Mandel in disguise) starts ringing up the items, he starts recommending different, healthier options. As the health-conscious preaching goes on and on, will anyone stand up for their right to eat unhealthily?

What would you do if you saw two young service members being refused a drink after they've just come home from serving overseas? What if they asked you to buy them a drink? Would you do it?

VINTAGE BOTTLE: When a clumsy customer accidentally breaks a very rare, expensive bottle of wine and pretends she has nothing to do with it, even placing the blame on other customers, will anyone in the store speak up? What if the clumsy customer casts the blame on a store employee who does not speak English?

TANNING MOM: A pale teenage girl is pressured by her mom to get a tan because she looks "unhealthy". The daughter makes it clear that she doesn't want to, but the mother persists that she won't be beautiful unless she gets in the booth. Will anyone waiting for their own tan stand up for the daughter's wishes?

THE HELP: When a mom verbally abuses the woman she has hired to take care of her kids, will any bystanders step in and say something? What if it's the child abusing the nanny?

Friday, October 19, 2012

WAR OF THE ROSES: When a cashier questions a man who is buying two diamond bracelets at a jewelry store, one for his wife and one for another woman, will any other customers say anything?
